CLASS POLICIES

Kathak dance is an age-old art form of great beauty and complexity. Many years of training are necessary in order to develop a thorough Kathak technique. KDT is fortunate to have Rita Mustaphi, a direct disciple of Guru Pandit Birju Maharaj, as its Artistic Director and Master Teacher. The rest of KDT's teaching staff is composed solely of members of its professional Company. All students are expected to take their dance studies very seriously, as well as:

- Show respect to their teacher and be courteous to all students, teachers and staff.
- Approach learning with sincerity and enthusiasm, practicing at home and during breaks.

ATTENDANCE

- Students are expected to attend the class regularly. If a student will miss a class, the KDT office must be notified via email. Include the date/time of absence. Any communicated absence is eligible for a makeup class.

- It is very important to have dancers arrive on time for class. Children should not be left unattended in the lobby, restroom or hallway. Please remind dancers to use the restroom before class. Shoes should be left outside the studio. Arrive fifteen minutes early to allow time for changing street clothes, using the restroom, and tying ankle bells. Students should be ready to begin class at the scheduled time.
- Extra rehearsals for Sadhana are scheduled weeks in advance, and students should arrange their schedules accordingly. The only excuse for missing a Sadhana rehearsal is illness - other lessons, sports, homework, etc. are not considered legitimate excuses. Missed rehearsals may result in the removal of the student from the performance.
- Students must attend at least one semester per year in order to perform in two dances at Sadhana.
- Refunds and withdrawal:
Refunds will not be given after attending 2 weeks of scheduled classes. Please notify KDT via email regarding withdrawals.
- Make-up classes:
Dancers registered for an ongoing weekly dance class September through May are welcome to make up for a missed class by attending another weekly class of similar level on our dance year schedule. Please email or call us at 763-533-0756 to let us know that you/your dancer will be attending another class as a make up class.

CLASS ATTIRE

What is KDT's dress code?

Kathak is a classical dance form, therefore the word 'discipline' is deeply rooted within it. Dancers need to groom themselves before attending a Kathak dance class. At KDT, we emphasize a sense of discipline, comfort and respect for the art form.

- Make sure that you tie your hair off of your face, either in a ponytail or braid. If you have short hair, use secure clips. Don't wear a headband, as it may fall out during vigorous movement. Bangs worn out are fine for younger or less experienced dancers, but as you progress and begin doing more vigorous movements, you should pin your bangs back.

- Make sure that you wear clothing that is breathable and comfortable. Your clothes should allow you to achieve maximum range of motion and see your own body line in the mirror. It should also respect the Indian dance etiquette regarding hemlines and sleeve length. Recommended attire includes Indian salwar/Kameez or churidar/Kameez and/or dupatta. Kameez and kurta are tops that go down to the knee--not too much above or below. They can have short sleeves or 3/4 sleeves, but not sleeveless. Churidar or Salwar are recommended to be worn on the bottom. A churidar is tight at the shin and ankle--literally creating "churis" or bracelets with material around the ankles. Salwar are wider pants. Older students must tie their dupatta. Tank tops, shorts and jeans are not permitted.
- Make sure that you own a set of ankle bells or 'ghungru' and tie them properly and securely before each class so that you will not hurt yourself. Ghungru are sacred to Indian dance and should not be worn with shoes. Dancers must be barefoot - socks are not allowed. Make sure ghungru are strung on a rope as intended for Kathak dance. Children need 50 bells per foot; teens/adults need 75 - 100 per foot. KDT sells ghungru on its website; otherwise contact the office for recommendations of verified sellers. Students are required to pick up their ghungru in person at our studio; KDT staff will be in touch to schedule a pick up time. Ghungru are not required for 1A students.

CLASSROOM PROTOCOL

- Do not eat, drink, or chew gum during class. Only water is allowed in the classroom.
- For a focused learning atmosphere, non-dancers (including parents), siblings, and friends are requested not to linger in the classroom. However, parents of young children (ages 6 - 10) are permitted to watch their child's first and last classes of the session.
- Photo and video:
We love how excited you are to come, watch and celebrate your dancers' joy and accomplishment in the studio. It's ok to take brief videos and photos of your child. Yes, we request that observers are mindful to not overly capture classes. Phone devices can be a distraction and increase pressure for the student. Please also be mindful that you are primarily capturing the images of your own child and not others in the room to respect everyone's privacy.

ALL MUSIC AND CHOREOGRAPHY PERFORMED OR TAUGHT BY KATHA DANCE THEATRE COMPANY AND SCHOOL IS COPYRIGHTED AND MAY NOT BE PERFORMED, RECORDED, TRANSMITTED ELECTRONICALLY OR STORED WITHOUT THE ARTIST'S KNOWLEDGE AND WRITTEN CONSENT. VIOLATIONS OF THIS POLICY MAY RESULT IN ENROLLMENT TERMINATION.

STUDENT EVALUATION

The examination is a demonstration of the student's ability, achievement and joy in dancing. It is observed and assessed by the examiner, but takes place in the presence of a teacher. Exams prove students' technical prowess. Taking the exam also earns students a certificate, which acts as a proof that they have completed their year of Kathak dance training at Katha Dance Theatre.

PARENT INVOLVEMENT

Katha Dance Theatre School of Dance is a non-profit arts organization. This means that all income, including tuition, grants and gifts go directly to the operation of its performances and programs. Tuition is annually drafted to cover the cost of classes, rental of the studio spaces, maintenance of the Company, and administrative costs. Performances and programs extending beyond these classes must come from additional resources.

The quality of our program has a direct relationship to the quality of involvement from our families. Please watch for emails from the KDT's office requesting volunteers throughout the school year, as all parents and students are encouraged to become active participants in the community by volunteering.
